Wed, 08 Aug 2018 17:41:00 GMT - In linguistics, language death occurs when a language loses its last native speaker. By extension, language extinction is when the language is no longer known, including by second-language speakers. Other similar terms include linguisticide, the death of a language from natural or political causes, and rarely glottophagy, the absorption or replacement of a minor language by a major language.
